

Scholarship, camp tuition and reading awards given to New Lebanon Students by LVCC

NEW LEBANON, NY – July 13, 2026 For the third consecutive year, the Lebanon Valley Community Corporation (LVCC) is proud to announce the awarding of a scholarship to a graduating 2026 senior from New Lebanon High School. This year's recipient, Jacqueline Loucks, will be attending Charles H. McCann Technical School in North Adams, MA where she will be studying to become a Medical Assistant.

This scholarship represents the LVCC's ongoing commitment to supporting local youth and investing in the educational future of the community. It is granted to a New Lebanon High School student who meets specific criteria, demonstrating academic promise, community involvement, and a commitment to their personal growth.

The LVCC was also able to bring a brighter and safer summer for local families by awarding tuition for children to attend the summer youth program at Shatford Park. Through the generosity of its donors, the LVCC provided over $5000 for 11 campers which included the camp program, swimming lessons and field trips. Camp has begun and a wonderful summer is in progress!

In its newest program supporting our youngest students, the LVCC joined forces with the Reading Challenge at William B. Howard Elementary School. Students in the 3rd through 6th grades were tasked with the challenge of completing 7 books in a 7-week period, and we are thrilled to report that 30 students completed this challenge. The LVCC provided a shared $500 gift certificate to Barnes & Noble, and the students were able to find new books for more reading adventures. Congratulations to these accomplished readers!

LVCC's mission is to foster the community and economic well-being of the Town of New Lebanon, its residents and its neighbors. Anyone wishing to contribute to any of these programs may donate online at:
